

Romance

Sensuality is an essential part of romance.
You're invited to read this very sensual piece written by Ann and published as the only example of this genre in the book,
Writers in the Library, Auckland, 2010.

Pink Satin

I am smooth, sensuous and silky, with a sheen that people want to reach out and touch. Some run their fingertips over my petal pink surface – their contact so light it's like being stroked with butterflies' wings. Some want to grasp me in both hands and raise me to their lips with an insatiable appetite that nothing but me can satisfy; bury their faces in me, breathing deeply, inhaling the scent of my essence; and brush me tenderly with their lips. When they let go – reluctantly - I sink into a heap and crumple in sinuous folds so soft they want to hold me again.

